ANNOUNCEMENT BY NEW TALISMAN GOLD MINES LIMITED (NTL and NTLOA or NTLO)

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APPOINTMENT OF MINING ENGINEER

The Board is delighted to announce it has appointed a highly qualified and experienced mining engineer, Mr Wayne Chowles, to lead the Talisman mine development project.

Mr Chowles has more than 25 years experience in underground gold mining the majority of which was spent in the deep level South African gold mines, and is a product of the University of the Witwatersrand School of Mines.

He has spent the previous 7 years consulting within the project management and development field to companies such as Anglo American, African Rainbow Minerals, Anglo Platinum and, most recently, working with Solid Energy NZ.

Mr Chowles principal role is to plan and oversee the development of the Talisman underground mine at Karangahake.

"Wayne brings his wealth of knowledge and practical expertise in underground mining to the Talisman project and we are delighted to have Wayne on board", said Matthew Hill, Executive Director.

Coupled with the appointment of Matthew Hill to Executive Director, based in Auckland, the New Talisman Management team is now complete and is focused on the accelerated development of the Talisman Mine.
